'WOLSELEY' KIT

Regulation British Army Blue Book Pattern

The most comfortable, convenient and compact sleeping kit on the market. Made of specially prepared "Watertite" duck, brown color, all edges bound with cowhide leather. Roll at head for personal clothing and pocket for feet. Cover flap of good width and full length with straps and buckles to hold securely down.

When sleeping out in rough weather, flap covers head and can be pegged up at one corner for ventilation, otherwise it can be turned down and head exposed. Heavily oiled leather straps and handle with malleable iron rings for attaching to transports. The sides are raised and fitted with eyelets and lacing cord to keep mattress in place and protect from the elements.

Mattress is filled with ground cork and corrugated so as to roll neatly. Cork is soft and light, also a non-conductor of cold and dampness, and in an emergency acts as a life-preserver.

Length, 6 feet. Width, 27 inches. Weight, 16 pounds.
DUNNAGE BAGS are made to match, of same "Watertite" brown duck with eyelets and draw cords, flap at top (inside) to protect contents. Length, 27 inches; diameter, 14 inches.

AN APOLOGY!

Frontenac Breweries Limited

are compelled to apologize for the delay in choosing a new name for Christmas Bock Beer. The task of selection has far exceeded their ideas of difficulty. Not only are they positively overwhelmed with tens of thousands of postcards and letters from all over the Dominion—speaking in the highest terms of the quality of the beer—but many competitors have sent in several names, which all make the consideration of the right name more difficult. The selection of the name for goes forward as rapidly as possible under a competent committee. The result will be announced in a few days, it is hoped. Meantime, competitors and their friends should not forget that Christmas Bock Beer is still on sale at all dealers, and is the ideal of a drink for all weathers.

Dr. Tait Talks on "Memory to" Philosophers

Natural Scientific Explanation in the Place of Mysticism, Uncertainty and Humbug

A very successful meeting of the Philosophical Society took place in the Strathcona Hall last evening, in spite of the fact that there were many other meetings held on the same evening, the large auditorium in Strathcona Hall was filled with an interested audience.

The feature of the evening was the reading of a highly interesting and instructive paper by Dr. Tait. The speaker commenced his address by stating that owing to recent researches, the concept of memory must be enlarged. Memory is not a faculty nor even a mental process, but a psychological process.

It includes much more than what exists as personal consciousness. The fact that a matter is beyond voluntary recall does not argue against its conservation. The evidence tends to show that few, if any, of our experiences, even if not attended to, are forgotten.

A more important result is that such phenomena as automatic writing, trances, crystal gazing, etc., brought under the general category of memory and thus given a scientific explanation.

As another result, our view of consciousness must be enlarged. It is much more than what is commonly called personal consciousness or awareness of self. It includes the co-conscious, and the sub-conscious, and perhaps others still more vague or indefinite. Most of our attitudes in life, our likes and dislikes, opinions, etc., are due to this great background of the personal consciousness.

Personality, too, is the sum of mental processes, represented by our mental life in this large sense, and the hypothesis of an ego is not only unnecessary, but unmeaning.

Thus, the psychologist offers a perfectly natural scientific causal explanation in the place of mysticism, uncertainty and humbug.

After the reading of this paper, an informal discussion was indulged in by many visitors as well as students. After the discussion a vote of thanks to Dr. Tait was moved by the chairman, after which the meeting adjourned.

NEWSPAPERMAN FAVORS SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

"I am emphatically in favour of such a course (a School of Journalism) being added to the curriculum of our larger universities. If it is not found feasible to establish such a school at once, I would like to see a course of lectures on 'Journalism' delivered to the Third and Fourth Year men, which in time might develop into a full-fledged Faculty."

"The old method of training journalists consisted in bringing a boy into an office, making him cut type, drink ink and sleep on a bundle of papers, thereby acquiring a first hand knowledge of journalism. This undoubtedly produced some great men but all would have done better had they had a college course. It stands to reason that a young man possessing the qualifications necessary to make him a good journalist would be greatly benefited by a college course just as a young man is helped in other professions by such a course."—J. C. Ross, Managing Editor, "Journal of Commerce," Montreal.

Class Dinner of Arts '18 Was Great Success

Prof. Laski and Paul Clark the Principal Speakers of Evening

The Dinner given by Arts '18 in honor of Cully Campbell, the ex-president, now of the Army Service Corps, was held at the Edinburgh Cafe last night. The evening was a great success and was much enjoyed by the some thirty students present. It was announced that Professor Macnaughton was unable to be present, and wished to express to the class his deep regret.

After dinner, President Farthing rose and proposed the toast to the King. The president then called on Mr. Green to propose "Our Guest." Mr. Green expressed the pleasure it was for the class to have Cully Campbell with them. He spoke of the honor it was for Arts '18 to have one of its foremost men volunteer for his country, and finished by saying that "what will be our loss for the time being, will be Canada's gain," and expressed the hope that the class would see Cully back at McGill at the conclusion of the war. The toast was drunk accompanied by "For he's a jolly good fellow."

Close Contest For Macnaughten Reading Prize

Mr. Ira Dilworth Wins Much Coveted Reading Prize Last Night

Before a very sparse audience last evening in the Common Room, Messrs. D. Dilworth, E. Dilworth, A. G. Doney, C. R. Kneeland, M. Flanders, J. Grier, J. Denny and R. deW. Scott presented themselves as candidates for the Chester Macnaughten reading prize of twenty-five dollars.

Each man read first a selection of his own choosing, after which they read two selections played by the judges, Principal Patterson, the Rev. Dr. Patterson-Smyth and C. M. Holt, K.C.

All the men were rather nervous during the first reading, but the following two selections, from Ruskin's "Crown of Wild Olive," and Scott's "Marmion and Douglas," were rendered in fine style and with considerable feeling.

Four of the men competing, viz. Messrs. Dilworth, Doney, Donahue and Grier, did splendidly and in fact the judges found it impossible to choose between them. Accordingly they were asked to read an extract from "Ivanhoe" by Sir Walter Scott.

Donahue and Dilworth were both good, while Doney gave a fine rendering. Grier, however, fell down somewhat. As a result, the first three were asked by the judges to read Kipling's "Recessional" as they had displayed equal ability.

After some discussion, Dr. Patterson-Smyth informed the meeting on behalf of the judges, that Mr. Ira Dilworth had won the much desired prize.

A vote of thanks was then moved to the judges by Mr. Allen Oliver and seconded by Mr. Phil Fisher.

DATES OF MEETING HAVE BEEN CHANGED

Prizes For Design Offered by the Association—Overseas Volunteers Made Honorary Members

The Architectural Association met in the Lecture Room last evening. Considerable business was disposed of and the date of meeting was changed from the second and fourth Tuesdays to the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. It was also decided the association should award an annual prize to the member of the association who secured the highest aggregate of marks in the design class of each year.

CHARLES M. HOLT, K.C.

Who acted as one of the judges at the Chester Macnaughten Reading Contest held last evening.

This year, the prize will be eight dollars and will be awarded in the classes A, B, and C, instead of the years.

D. McLennan, F. H. Wilkes, Walter Hyde, S. B. Lindsay and R. W. S. Robertson, members and graduates of the department, who have volunteered for active service, were elected to honorary membership in the association.

Following the business, the address dealing with the history of the development of Montreal from 1530 to 1850, was read by Mr. J. J. Perrault. Slides showing maps of the city at various stages were shown and served to explain the layouts of parts of the old town.

The coming of Jacques Cartier in 1535—his reception by the natives and founding of the village—were dealt with. The development during this (Continued on page 2.)

Speaks on the Second French Renaissance

Professor Paul Morin Addressed La Societe Francaise Yesterday

The Societe Francaise met in the Common Room at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Miss Corner occupied the chair. Owing to the rather inconvenient time for which the meeting had been called, many students who would have liked to have heard Prof. Morin's address, were unable to be present.

Before introducing the speaker, Miss Greterin reported that the total return from the French play, performed by the Societe several weeks ago, amounted to $278. Of this $21 was the proceeds of the team room improvised by the girls in the Common Room. The expenditure was considerably reduced by the fact that each member of the cast paid for her own costume, while several ladies, friends of the societe, generously contributed cakes for the tea.

The subject of Prof. Morin's address was "La Seconde Renaissance Francaise," which the speaker said, might almost be considered as real and far-reaching in its effects on the French nation as the Italian Renaissance of the 16th century. The speaker pointed out the great changes that had been wrought in the French intellectual circles since the momentous events of 1870—changes, clearly exemplified in the changed attitude towards religion, philosophy, science and literature. To observe this quite plainly, one had only to read such authors as Renan and Lainé.

The speaker went on to say that the unrest and disquiet existing in France since 1870 had in it no element of anarchy, but was due solely to the lack of some definite aim. There had been an attempt to find satisfaction in science and positive philosophy. But now the want has been supplied by the present war, which seems to Frenchmen of all opinions and needs, the proper channel in which to direct their energies towards the goal they have long been aspiring to.

A vote of thanks to Prof. Morin was moved by Miss Sperber and heartily seconded by all present, the meeting then adjourned.

This is to be an arduous week-end for the Pennsylvania basketball team, in the course of which they will travel through New York State and wind up at Ithaca on Saturday night, with a league contest. Yesterday the Red and Blue played at Rochester; to-day they encounter the Syracuse five; to-morrow they meet the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, and the next night Cornell. It seems that the Quakers will be pretty well played out by the time they meet the hustling Cornellians, and the wisdom of the management in scheduling three road contests immediately previous to an important league game is questionable.

Mr. Branch then spoke of the class that the class of '18 had been well re-

DALHOUSIE MEN TO ATTEND CAMP

Anxious to Co-operate with McGill and Toronto in the Spring

The Dalhousie Gazette says:

A plan is on foot to have all the Officers Training Corps connected with the Eastern Universities assemble in the spring for about 12 days' drill. This drill will be carried on much the same scale as the regular drills which take place every year for the regulars of the Canadian Militia.

The McGill Regiment are endeavoring to hold a spring camp and Captain Magee, of Montreal, made formal application at Ottawa for it. As to this he could say nothing definite, but stated that the regulations of the Officers Training Corps called for the camp to be held this year and that there was every indication it would take place.

Should the negotiations prove favorable it is likely that the Universities of Toronto, Dalhousie and McGill will unite in holding this camp.

It is stated that in all likelihood, the camp will take place about May 1 to May 14. This would allow Dalhousie students two days to make the trip and to return.

Convocation takes place at Dalhousie on Thursday, May 6, but as examinations are all over by May 1st, most of the students would gladly leave for the the camp, Dalhousie students would willingly sacrifice the exercises of the last week in order to attend the camp.

The probable location of the camp would be at Niagara-on-the-Lake, near to Toronto. Owing to the time of the year the camp must take place in some warm district, and this would prove the most suitable place.

It is to be hoped that this movement will be carried through by the Dominion Government as it will aid materially in training first-class officers for the Canadian Militia.

Certain Dalhousie students are at present planning to perfect their course at Wellington Barracks, in this city, but they gladly welcome the chance of co-operating with McGill and Toronto for a spring camp in the Officers' Training Corps.

"Please, ma'am, there's a man out here who says he'll have a fit on the front porch if you don't give him a dime."

"He will? Well, tell him you'll give him two dimes if he'll have a fit on Mrs. Brown's porch."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

BUSTER REID IS GAZETTED LIEUTENANT

Prominent Rugby Player Has Received Rapid Promotion From the Ranks

ENLISTED AS PRIVATE

Has Left Quebec For Halifax And Beyond on Active Service

McGill men will not stay down. This has been tradition for over 90 years. In football or any sport, the men will not stay put. This has also proved true in the military circles. Last week when Buster Reid was gazetted as a lieutenant, Reid enlisted before the close of the Rugby season last fall as a private and soon after he got his foot on the lowest rung of the ladder of promotion, his appointment was lance corporalship. A little later he was promoted to a corporal's position and from that on passed through the sergeant, quartermaster, color sergeant, sergeant-major to his commission.

Buster was in his fourth year when he volunteered and was accepted. Since his entry into college he has always been a bright star in the galaxy of college athletes. He played pretty well everything worth while and two years ago he won his coveted big block "M" in football. He has even been a valuable man on the line where his great weight and strength stopped many of our rivals' rushes.

Buster will receive his B.A. degree when he returns from his service abroad with the Westminster Rifles. It is just about three months since he enlisted with the Twenty-third and his quick promotion is a proof of his sterling worth. Since Christmas time his regiment has been drilling at Quebec. They left last Saturday for Halifax, where they embarked Monday for unknown harbors.

NOTICE

The instructors of Stretcher drill for the General Hospital have been unable to procure books of instruction. The stretcher drill will be published in the Daily and all men enlisted in the Hospital Corps are urged to preserve it for future reference.

STRETCHER BEARER COURSE IN DRILL

Training of Stretcher Bearers will be started immediately in connection with the C.O.T.C. Instruction will consist of stretcher exercises, first aid, etc. Volunteers from all faculties for this course are requested to meet at 6.15 p.m. in the C.O.T.C. armory, Friday, February 12th.

MILITARY ENGINEERING.

(Courses 400-401.)
Those men taking the above courses for qualification as Lieutenants in the C. E. F. will receive the promise of the military engineering teacher the story of Delilah and Samson, whereas Abner sat right up and began to take it in.

"I knowed it! I knowed it!" he exclaimed, with an air of positiveness when the story was completed. "That's just exactly what I have been tellin' mother."

"Do you mean," kindly inquired the pleased teacher, "that you have been telling her about Delilah and Samson?"
"Naw," said the young man, "I have been tellin' her that it don't pay to let a woman cut a feller's hair."

:: War Summary ::

These Articles Are Specially Written for the McGill Daily and will be Published each Day.

FRANCE

What is considered to be the resumption of the active campaign in Lorraine occurred near Remonville, where the Germans attempted to take the advanced French lines. They were repulsed, however, with heavy losses. Artillery fighting continues along the line from the Aisne to the Champagne region. The Germans are massing troops here and are evidently preparing to advance in force upon the French lines. Isolated fights have taken place near Furnes and La Bassee. In the Vosges artillery fighting is reported.

RUSSIA

The Russians appear to have the Germans in a trap near Wloclawek, which is only thirty-five miles from Thorn. The Germans are fighting desperately to get themselves out of a position which endangered a large part of their lives. In Northern Poland the Russian cavalry has held in check an offensive movement of the Germans. In East Prussia heavy fighting has been going on near Lasdenhnen, northeast of Nisterburg. The President of the Duma declared yesterday that Russia would fight on until the Allies had won complete victory over Germany. It was also stated that Russia hoped to obtain Constantinople and the Bosphorus as a result of the war. Russia will also sell all her surplus grain to the Allies thus ensuring a sure supply to Great Britain and France.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

In Galicia the Austro-German forces have been repulsed at Koziowa. In Hungary the Austrians were forced to retreat in the region of Bartfeld and Svidnik. Fierce fighting has taken place around the Lupkow Pass in the Carpathians, 5,000 Austrians having been captured. It is reported that the Austrians have again commenced hostilities against Serbia, having opened fire on the forts at Orsova and Tekia on the Danube. They have also attempted to cross the Danube at Vicerovo but without success.

Notes on Elementary Bayonet Instruction by Instructor P. E. Nobbs—Offensive and Defensive Action

Lieut.-Col. Starke strongly recommends that each member of the battalion read carefully Appendix I of Infantry Training, 1914, and the following notes prepared by Sergeant-Instructor P. E. Nobbs. If this is done before attending at the Bayonet Gymnasium a great deal of time will be saved.

(B.) Shorten Arms.
The chief use of this manoeuvre is to withdraw the point after a successful or unsuccessful hit and be immediately ready to repeat the blow or attack another adversary. In all cases a straight withdrawal is required followed immediately (or after approaching) by a straight forward drive. A firm grip is required for these actions except at the moment when the weapon is fully withdrawn. The near end of the barrel passes the neck the straighter will be the action. The weapon should move as if a tight wire passed through its barrel, i.e. in a straight line through its own main axis.

Common Errors.

(1) Swinging back level with the shoulder instead of drawing back above the shoulder.
(2) Lack of force.

(3) The subsequent cut will also tend to swing failing in reach and direction.

(4) Withdrawing the butt behind the head instead of straight out behind the shoulder.

(5) The blow will tend to curve to the left, the point cutting instead of impaling.

(C.) Shorten Arms (Under).
This action is more suited to closing with an adversary who parries than for withdrawal of the weapon after a successful blow. A straight back and forward action is essential to success as in the "Shorten over."

When done on the move after a "point" which has missed or a "point" which has been parried, the withdrawal must be very rapid and should be accompanied by the next step forward, for after a successful parry or a deceived parry, the only chance of safety consists in rapidly closing the distance.

Common Errors.

(1) Withdrawing with arms extended so that the arms swing in a circular curve.

(2) Loss of control for the blow to follow.

(3) Delaying the blow.

(4) Loss of penetration from dissociation of armwork with leg work.

(5) The Butt.
The butt may be used in various emergencies.

(a) When a point has failed to reach an adversary from over haste in delivery.

(b) When a point has failed to reach owing to the adversary's withdrawal.

(c) After locking bayonets (delivered at a right angle).

(d) In a close mixed fight to right or left according to opposite shoulder over which the bayonet is withdrawn.

(e) To stop the impetus of one's own rush. In all cases any movement of the weapon has at the time of the blow should be used and not neutralized by a too sudden withdrawing action of the left arm. The weapon should turn on its own centre of gravity without checking its speed; the blow can then be easily and lightly aimed.

Common Errors.

(1) Jerking back the whole rifle.

(2) Shortens reach.

(3) Destroys momentum.

(4) Makes force of blow depend on push of right arm; this is weak compared to the turn of the moving weapon.

(5) Strains shoulders or arms.

(6) Causes loss of balance instead of stopping well poised and ready.

(7) Offensive-Defensive Actions.
The parry is a movement of a weapon within a plain which intercepts the line in which the adversary moves his weapon. Parries must be made with the arms only, the balance of the body being maintained.

The idea of parrying without returning cannot be tolerated in instruction or in practice. The return hit cannot be made with any penetration from the finished parry owing to the

ADVERTISING SHOULD BE PROPERLY PLANNED

(Prepared for the McGill Daily by the Desharats Advertising Agency.)

- That some of the greatest business successes of the present decade are the result of careful, judicious advertising, is self-evident.
- On the other hand, there's no denying that large sums have been literally thrown away and wasted by careless, indifferent, misplaced advertising.
- Advertising properly prepared, carefully planned and judiciously placed is bound to bring results, out of all proportion to the cost.
- But the degree of its "pulling" power depends largely upon the quality of the advertising.
- It is, on this account, that the services of a capable and experienced advertising agency are indispensable to the successful marketing of a commodity.
- If you are doing your own advertising and the returns are not coming in as satisfactorily as you would wish, you should consult an advertising agency—an agency that has spent years in the study of advertising problems in all their phases and from all angles and viewpoints.
- If you have a surplus which you contemplate using for the promotion of sales don't fail to devote a large part of it towards advertising.
- Money spent for advertising, during war times, will bring you returns and establish a demand for your goods which will have a cumulative value out of all proportion to the cost.

FIRST CASUALTY TO QUEEN'S MAN

Famous Athlete Has Leg Amputated While at Salisbury Plain

News of the first casualty to a member of the 5th Co. Engineers has been received at Queen's with sincere regret. W. C. Buchanan, familiarly known as "Scotty," one of the gamest athletes that ever donned a Queen's sweater, was thrown from his horse at Salisbury Plain last fall. His knee was hurt but he took little notice of the injury. Complications, however, set in and in his last letter, written in a very cheerful vein, Buchanan tells that the doctors have decided that it is necessary to amputate the limb. It seems like the irony of fate that a man who emerged unscathed from the gruelling of the football, hockey and basketball games and the strenuous work of the wrestling mat, should be incapacitated in such a manner. One thing is certain, though the wound was not received in the actual firing line, we will still take off our caps and salute Buchanan as a soldier of the right spirit. It is expected that the invalid will shortly sail for Canada.

The first of a course of six lectures on Acoustics will be given by Dr. H. T. Barnes in the Physics Building, at 4.15 p.m. on Friday next, February 12. Similar courses have been given in previous years and it is extremely beneficial for the students of music to understand the close connection of this important branch of science with music.

Many other students of the university would undoubtedly find this course of lectures interesting and should they care to attend, the secretary of the conservatorium will be pleased to make the necessary arrangements. There will be no charge for admission.

The remaining lectures of the course will take place each Friday, ending March 19th.
